Annual Report

dear reader

We are glad to present you ERYICA's Annual Report for the year 2012.

On the next pages you will have an overview of our activities during the past year and you can get acquainted with the aims that our organisation has been working for.

'Information Right Now!' – this was the key phrase of 2012 at ERYICA. In cooperation with the Council of Europe, our network completed a successful campaign on young people's right for information, as well as information as a prerequisite to access rights. With over 35.000 young people participating in these activities and the campaign's photo exhibition presented, among others, at the Council of Europe Conference of Ministers in St. Petersburg, ERYICA did not only promote the case of youth information but showcased the capacities of a strong network.

The other major project that started in 2012 aims at showcasing something else, too: the potential that our network of Youth Information Centres in 27 countries is carrying to provide information and face-to-face counselling services for young people on the move. As more and more of them have access to internships and jobs across Europe, we believe that the service to be developed in the Youth on the Move – InfoMobility project will fill a niche.

As seen from the mere two examples above, ERYICA values the collaboration with its partners and stakeholders working for similar aims in different contexts and looking forward to joining efforts in the future as well.

ERYICA is a network of both physical and virtual spaces. With the youth information centres that provide face to face contact and assistance to the young generation, we consider our services not only unique in the field but increasingly important in the virtual age.

An achievement that reinforces this capacity further is that our training system closed its so far best year in 2012, with 11 of our member countries hosting and organising one or more courses, developing the skills and competences of our colleagues who provide services in youth information centres.

It has been 5 years that the Secretariat moved to Luxembourg and this occasion was celebrated along with the 25th anniversary of our Luxembourgish member organisation. The event provided a nice retrospection on the last years and decades both for ourselves and for our stakeholders. However, it was young people's testimonies, both live and on videos, that provided the real evidence for celebration and also to keep the slogan alive: information, right now!

ERYICA's core framework documents are the European Youth Information Charter, adopted by the ERYICA General Assembly in 2004 and the Principles for Online Youth Information, adopted by the ERYICA General Assembly in 2009.

European Youth Information Charter

Adopted in Bratislava (Slovak Republic) on 19 November 2004, by the 15th General Assembly of the European Youth Information and Counselling Agency (ERYICA).

PREAMBLE

In complex societies and in an integrated Europe that offers many challenges and opportunities, access to information and the ability to analyse and use information is increasingly important for young Europeans. Youth information work can help them to achieve their aspirations and can promote their participation as active members of society. Information should be provided in ways that enlarge the choices available to young people, and that promote their autonomy and empowerment.

Respect for democracy, human rights and fundamental freedoms implies the right of all young people to have access to complete, objective, understandable and reliable information on all their questions and needs. This right to information has been recognised in the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, in the Convention on the Rights of the Child, in the European Convention for the Protection of Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms, and in the Recommendation N° (90) 7 of the Council of Europe concerning information and counselling for young people in Europe. This right is also the basis for youth information activities undertaken by the European Union.

INTRODUCTION

Generalist youth information work covers all topics that interest young people, and can include a spectrum of activities: informing, counselling, advising, guiding, supporting, befriending, coaching and training, networking, and referral to specialised services. These activities may be delivered by youth information centres, or through youth information services in other structures, or using electronic and other media. The principles of this Charter are intended to apply to all forms of generalist youth information work. They constitute a basis for minimum standards and quality measures which should be established in each country as elements of a comprehensive, coherent and co-ordinated approach to youth information work, which is a part of youth policy.

PRINCIPLES

The following principles constitute guidelines for generalist youth information work, which seeks to guarantee the right of young people to information:

1. Youth information centres and services shall be open to all young people without exception.
2. Youth information centres and services seek to guarantee the equality of access to information for all young people, regardless of their situation, origin, gender, religion, or social category. Special attention should be paid to disadvantaged groups and to young people with specific needs.
3. Youth information centres and services should be easily accessible, without any appointment being required. They should be attractive for young people, with a friendly atmosphere. The operating hours should meet the needs of young people.
4. The information available shall be based on the requests of young people and on their perceived information needs. It should cover all topics that could interest young people, and should evolve in order to cover new topics.
5. Each user shall be respected as an individual and the response to each question shall be personalised. This shall be done in a way that empowers users, promotes the exercise of their autonomy, and develops their capacity to analyse and use information.
6. Youth information services shall be free of charge.
7. Information is given in a way that respects both the privacy of users and their right not to reveal their identity.
8. Information is provided in a professional manner by staff trained for this purpose.
9. The information offered is complete, up-to-date, accurate, practical and user-friendly.
10. Every effort is made to ensure the objectivity of the information provided through the pluralism and verification of the sources used.
11. The information offered shall be independent of any religious, political, ideological or commercial influence.
12. Youth information centres and services shall strive to reach the largest possible number of young people, in ways that are effective and appropriate to different groups and needs, and by being creative and innovative in their choice of strategies, methods and tools.
13. Young people shall have the opportunity to participate, in appropriate ways, in different stages of youth information work, at local, regional, national and international levels. These can include, among others: identifying information needs, the preparation and delivery of information, managing and evaluating information services and projects and peer group activities.
14. Youth information centres and services shall co-operate with other youth services and structures, especially in their geographical area, and shall network with intermediaries and other bodies that work with young people.
15. Youth information centres and services shall help young people both to access information provided via modern information and communication technologies, and to develop their skills in using them.
16. Each source of funding for youth information work should not act in any way that prevents a youth information centre or service from applying all the principles of this Charter.

Principles for online youth information

Approved by the 20th General Assembly of ERYICA
Rotterdam, the Netherlands, 05.12.2009

Internet is a powerful source of information and communication, as well as an integrated part of the social environment of young people. Provision of generalist Youth Information and Counselling online, as well as orientation on the Internet are new tasks, which are complementary to existing Youth Information work.

In addition to the role of Youth Information, helping young people find the right information and take their own decisions, Online Youth Information supports them to maximise the benefits of the Internet and minimise its potential risks.

Online Youth Information is an integral part of Youth Information work and thus, shall comply to all the principles formulated in the European Youth Information Charter. As Online Youth Information has some specific characteristics, an additional set of guidelines is needed.

In order to ensure the quality of provided Online Youth Information services and to guarantee their added value and trustworthiness ERYICA, the European Youth Information and Counselling Agency adopted the following principles.

1. Online Youth Information shall be accurate, up to date and verified. The date when it was produced or updated shall be clearly mentioned.
2. The content shall be based on the needs of young people. Those needs have to be identified and evaluated in an ongoing process.
3. The content shall be a selection of relevant, free of charge information that provides an overview of different options available. The applied selection criteria must be made public and understandable.
4. Online Youth Information shall be understandable for young people and presented in an attractive way for them.
5. Online Youth Information services shall be operable for all, especially taking into account users and groups with specific needs.
6. When young people have the opportunity to ask a question online it shall be clear within which time limit they will receive an answer. The answer shall be tailor-made and it shall be clear who is providing it.
7. When young people are included in producing content, the accuracy of the final content shall stay the responsibility of the youth information organisation.
8. Encouraging young people to give feedback shall be an integrated part of the ongoing development of Online Youth Information services. The feedback shall be easy to submit. It must be then evaluated and used to adjust the content. Young people shall be made aware of how their feedback has impacted on the services.
9. The author and the purpose of the Online Youth Information shall be clear and visible. If content of third parties is used, the source is clearly indicated.
10. It must be clear to the users who the providers of the Youth Information service are and what their motivation is. Full contact information should be clearly displayed. Sources of financial support shall be transparently displayed.
11. Online Youth Information services should provide methods and guidance which help young people increase their information literacy and online competences.
12. Online Youth Information services shall inform and guide young people on how to act in a safe and responsible way in online environments.
13. Online Youth Information services shall be a safe environment for young people.
14. Online Youth Information respects and protects the privacy of the users and allows them to modify or delete their own published private data.
15. Online Youth Information services respect the copyright of third parties and are aware of their own.
16. Youth Information workers shall be competent on the use of online tools and have information literacy skills. They shall be aware of new developments, relevant law and keep themselves informed about trends and new online practices among young people.

partnership with the council of europe

Since 1997 ERYICA has been developing activities together with the Council of Europe within the framework of a Partnership Agreement.

The Joint Coordinating Committee (JCC) has led the undertaken activities. Marc Boes, Sanja Vuković-Čović and Davide Capecci represent ERYICA in the JCC. In 2012 the JCC held one meeting in Malta on 12 October 2012. This 23rd JCC meeting evaluated the Information Right Now! Campaign and the planned activities for 2013 that will be delivered in partnership with the Council of Europe.

INFORMATION RIGHT NOW!

Information Right Now! was a European campaign, launched on the European Youth Information Day, that is, on 17 April 2012 and implemented by ERYICA in partnership with the Council of Europe.

The campaign aimed to raise awareness among young people, decision makers and media on the special role of youth information with regard to young people's access to rights and – eventually – on the access to information as a right in itself for all young people.

respective target audiences – reaching over 35 000 young people between April and December 2012. The activities listed above as well as the Facebook page, the Facebook photo competition and the website were coordinated centrally by ERYICA. The Facebook account of the Campaign collected almost 3500 likes.

The campaign objectives were:

1. To make young people understand they have the right to information.
2. To make young people understand they have a right to information and move them to find it in the Youth Information Centre.
3. Together with young people, ask decision makers to guarantee their right to information.

The Facebook photo competition was launched on 16 May, the same day as the Pan-European Campaign Action Day that consisted of simultaneous events related to the Information Right Now! campaign across Europe. Young people were asked to visualise the theme 'Young People Are Asking' and over 100 entries were successfully submitted until the end of the competition on 31st August.

On a decentralised level, the campaign consisted of over 120 activities of different scope and scale in 29 Council of Europe member countries, organised by local, ERYICA-member Youth Information Centres and Youth Workers, and tailored to the

In the campaign, a group of young people, the so-called Youth Ambassadors had an important role in spreading the message for youths' right to information as well as using their capacities to contribute to society's development. They were the Campaign's spokespeople who were actively advocating for the right to information among youngsters, decision-makers and media, and participated in Campaign events in their own or other countries. These young people received a training in Malta to equip them with all skills to represent the Campaign as spokespeople in various activities, meetings, workshops or conferences in their home countries and beyond. They were trained professionally by Julie Mensík Čákiová, Matjaž Medvešek and Pepe Herrera. The event gathered 24 young people from 13 countries.

The photo exhibition of the campaign displayed a selection of pictures that were taken on the Pan-European Action Day, as well as nominated by young people in the photo competition. The exhibition was disseminated as a 'do-it-yourself' travelling exhibition from the CoE Conference of Ministers in St. Petersburg across Europe, including stops at the European Youth Centres of the Council of Europe in Strasbourg and Budapest.

REPRESENTATION OF ERYICA IN THE CDEJ Since 2008, ERYICA has been an observer of the CDEJ.

Since 2008, ERYICA has been an observer of the CDEJ – European Steering Committee for Youth, which is one of the statutory bodies of the Council of Europe, responsible for managing the activities in the field of Youth and Sport.

In 2012, ERYICA participated in both the 48th meeting of the CDEJ that took place in Budapest, Hungary on 28-30 March 2012 and the 49th meeting in Strasbourg, France on the dates of 12-14 November 2012. The Director of ERYICA, Davide Capecchi represented the organisation as an observer at these events.

CDEJ SUMMER UNIVERSITY

This year's CDEJ Summer University was held on the dates of 25-29 July 2012 in the city of Tbilisi, Georgia.

ERYICA was represented in this event by Sanja Vuković Čović, Vice President.

During the days of the event, participants from a wide range of European backgrounds had the chance to learn more about the Council of Europe and its aims particularly in the youth field and the composition of the CDEJ – European Steering Committee for Youth.

The CDEJ Summer University aims to provide members of the CDEJ and the Advisory Council (notably new members) with a learning experience, which is likely to improve their motivation and capacity to actively participate in the work of the Council of Europe youth sector, notably in its co-management structures.

The topics of this year's edition, including study visits and presentations, covered upcoming priorities of the youth field and prepared for the CoE Conference of Ministers responsible for Youth. Visits have been paid to political structures and the event also provided an opportunity to meet representatives of target countries of ERYICA.

eryica projects 2012

JIMMY

The Jimmy – Youth Information Mediator has been one of ERYICA's flagship projects for 2012, with support from the Youth in Action Programme of the European Commission.

The project was established to provide professional training for youth workers on the provision of youth information, as well as to design and deliver an Advanced YIntro training course for further developing the competences of experienced youth information workers.

Continuing for 18 months and having finished on 31 August 2012, the project delivered the following outcomes:

- a "Jimmy" training course for youth workers on youth information and counselling;
- an Advanced Training Course on Youth Information and Counselling, that is, an Advanced YIntro;
- translated Jimmy training manuals in French, Italian and Spanish;
- Jimmy flyers to promote the concept and the training course;
- Focus group flyers to disseminate the results of the focus group survey.

To design the above mentioned training courses, four meetings of the Training Task Force were organised in 2012 (see 'Training for Youth Information Workers').

In order to make these courses meet the needs of young people the most concisely possible, 17 focus groups were delivered during the project and their results were incorporated in the training courses.

Both training modules were delivered and ERYICA certified trainers were trained on them. The Jimmy TTT took place in the end of 2011 (Vicenza, Italy, 18-21 December 2011), whereas the Advanced YIntro was piloted with the facilitation of Alexandra Beweis, Heike Voggenthaler and Mika Pietilä in Mollina, Spain, between 25-30 June 2012. 5 trainers received the ERYICA certificate and are going to disseminate the content in their national networks.

By now Jimmies (that is, Youth Information Mediators) operate in 6 countries: Croatia, the Czech Republic, Cyprus, Montenegro, the Netherlands and the UK. These youth workers, trained on the provision of youth information, co-operate with their local Youth Information Centres and increase the outreach of such services.

The partners of the project were:

- ERYICA – Luxembourg (applicant)
- JONG Rotterdam – the Netherlands
- Koordinaatti – Finland
- CN Informagiovani – Italy
- MISSS – Slovenia
- Young Scot – UK
- Aha Voralberg – Austria
- IBjove – Spain

ADVOCACY AND LOBBYING TRAINING FOR YOUTH ORGANISATIONS (ALTYO)
 ERYICA was a partner of the project coordinated by Triagolnik (FYROM), along with Forum MNE (Montenegro) and Proni Brcko (Bosnia and Herzegovina).

The aim of the cooperation was to empower/build the capacities of youth NGOs and organisations targeting disadvantaged groups in advocacy and lobbying in order to effectively influence local and national policies.

ERYICA's role in the project involved designing and running the first training module (out of seven) three times and authoring a chapter of the toolkit on advocacy and lobbying.

In 2012, the second part of ERYICA's mandate was delivered, including the authoring process and the publication of the toolkit in two languages, as well as the evaluation meeting and a final conference of the European Commission.

In addition, the project raised the visibility and the reputation of ERYICA in the Western Balkans and promoted networking possibilities of the Agency in the area. The prepared training course on advocacy and lobbying will be integrated to the ERYICA training system.

In the frame of the project, ERYICA was represented by its Director at the evaluation meeting of the project in Skopje, FYROM on 8-9 November 2012, as well as at the EU DG Enlargement IPA Civil Society Facility Final Conference in Zagreb, Croatia on the dates of 27-28 November 2012.

EUROPEAN YOUTH INFORMATION DAY

On 17 April 2012, the European Youth Information Day (EYID) was celebrated in the ERYICA network for the 5th time.

The Information Right Now! Campaign, launched on this very day, gave it a special momentum this year. A great number of Youth Information Centres organised and animated programmes and activities during the day, reflecting on and raising attention to young people's right to information. The Day also provides opportunity for Centres belonging to an ERYICA member structure to increase their visibility and promote their services.

NEW CORPORATE IDENTITY

The 23rd General Assembly also prepared the grounds for the launch of the new Corporate Identity of ERYICA on 1 August.

This corporate make-over represents ERYICA's positive professional development as a network: the design intends to highlight the diversity and versatility of our membership and all the services we offer to young people in dozens of different countries throughout the continent. Hence, the new visuals can be used according to individual realities as they easily adapt in colour and tone that are required in the given situation, may it be when addressing young people directly with a more lively, colourful look or speaking to institutional stakeholders in a more clean and calm visual framework.

Besides the valuable guidance and support of the President and the Governing Board, the new visual concept is the result of the extensive contribution of our consultant Evert Ypma and designer Ismet Lisica.

ERYICA's IT support, the Nuvole Web Agency was quick to adapt our online presence to this new corporate design that included the launch of the new ERYICA website under www.eryica.org, as well as the facelift of the SHeryica and Infomobil portals.

During the year ERYICA became a host organisation of the Erasmus Programme, namely through hosting interns in the frame of the Erasmus Placement. The initiative provides opportunity for young people to gather professional experience through a work placement of minimum 3 months, just before graduation. Being part of this initiative reinforces ERYICA's European identity and ensures the involvement of young people in its everyday activities as well.

In 2012, the Secretariat welcomed María Jesús de Frutos Pérez from Spain and Elina Rudovska from Latvia.
